WESTERLY

The United War Workers' campaign is not at an end and in Westerly the good work will carry on, even if the contributions did not go over the top, and the war chest built to contain the allotment of $15,000, was filled to overflowing Friday night. This patriotic result was brought about by the doubling of earlier-in-the-week subscriptions, one local corporation increasing from $1,500 to $3,000, and so on down the line. The committee and teams have done and are doing the work cut out for them and like all patriotic endeavors that have gone before, Westerly has gone over the top and then far beyond. The committee declared that while the announcement of subscriptions is not being held back, still there is assurance that the result of the present campaign will bring honor to Westerly, the equal of any honor in the money-raising work of preceding campaigns.

Liberty Generalia, age 5, whose parents reside at 39 Oak street, was severely injured Thursday afternoon, when he ran directly in front of an automobile operated by Dr. Charles C. Crandall and was struck, knocked down and run over by one of the wheels. The boy was placed in the automobile and rushed to Dr. Crandall's office and Dr. M. H. Scallen was called to assist in the treatment of the injuries. It was ascertained that in addition to severe cuts in the face and head and minor bruises, the boy's left leg was broken. The doctors rendered first aid and prepared the boy for necessary hospital treatment. He was taken to the Rhode Island hospital on the first train for Providence after the accident.

Those who saw the boy struck say that Dr. Crandall was not at fault, as the boy ran from the side of the road, near the Hiram street, right in front of the automobile and the accident was unavoidable.

The editorial staff and business end of The Senior, the monthly publication of the Westerly High School, is made up as follows: Editor, Bill Kenney; in-chief, Louise Frechette; art, Lloyd Kenneth; athletics, Rita Collins; alumni, Rose Davidson; Caroline McVay; literary editors, Marion Manchester, Gertrude Healey; exchequer, Isabel McLaren; school notes, Sidney Blake; business manager, Talbot Holland; assistant business manager, Alexander Blake; subscription manager, The State Council of Defense says: "When you show flags of the allied nations which have helped in the great cause. Everyone thinks of France, Great Britain, Italy and Belgium, and usually those flags are shown with the stars and stripes. Patriotic persons should remember also Portugal and Japan, and the other nations which are numbered in the allied cause."

Miss Helen Holmes of Kingston, presided at the meeting of the New England branch of the Woman's National Farm and Garden association, of which she is president, held Friday afternoon in Providence. Miss Holmes spoke on the subject of Women in Agriculture. Other speakers were Mrs. George N. Cracker of Boston, first vice president, and Miss Howard of Providence. Prior to the meeting the president and vice president were informally entertained at luncheon by Miss Mauson.

Phoebe Green, Ward chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, elected these officers for the ensuing year: Mrs. George F. Barbour, regent; Mrs. Charles W. Clark, vice regent; Mrs. Edwin A. Hall, recording secretary; Mrs. Frank I. Payne, corresponding secretary; Miss Pannio D. Holmes, treasurer; Mrs. Henry Greene, registrar; Mrs. Alice Allan Thompson, historian; Mrs. Frank Hill, Mrs. William D. Critcherson, Mrs. I. I. Segar, Miss Amelia Potter, Mrs. John B. Brown, Mrs. A. R. Briggs, Mrs. Frank Larkin, Mrs. Asa T. Hoxie, board of management.

A patriotic employee of the George C. Moore company, who has come his bit in every patriotic endeavor in the town, and whose pay is $2.91 a day, insists in giving to the United War Workers one day's pay a week from November 1 to March 1, and regrets that he cannot afford to give more. When war was declared he enlisted, but was rejected by reason of physical disability. Later he was drafted under the selective service law, but was again refused admission into the army as being physically unfit. His contribution to the war chest will amount to about $50.

It is said that every employee of every corporation in the town of Westerly has contributed in the present campaign, which gives an average of 100 per cent., while some have doubled their original contributions. Up to date the contribution from the Bradford Dyeing association, incorporated, is $5,000, the 100 per cent. contribution early in the week was $25,000.
